Dear Examiner Horton:

Please note that a telephone interview was conducted on 10/13/2006. The examiner's written report is quoted below:

Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: During this interview, it was established that the 35 U.S.C. 132(a) rejection of new matter was in error. The applicant's attorney submitted tentative amendments that the examiner felt would not place the claims in condition for allowance. She did; however, suggest that any further amendments to the claims should focus more on the fact that there is no longitudinal strand disposed on or in the crest of the fur. Although this suggestion was made, the applicant's representative was informed that a detailed updated search would need to be performed, accordingly. The applicant's representative suggested submitting an affidavit regarding shipment of the device, the examiner expressed that a review thereof would also have to be performed in order to give a more definitive reply.

We agree with the examiner's assessment that the 35 USC 132(a) rejection was in error. We do not agree with the examiner that a new search is necessary since the original claims were clear in stating that the spacing furrs are situated between longitudinal strands. This topic has been on the examiner's desk through four office actions, the filing of an appeal and the subsequent reopening of the prosecution by the examiner. At this point, it is unreasonable for her to claim she needs a new search regarding this point. More discussion on this subject will be presented below in response to the office action of 09/05/2006.

We also remind the examiner that a petition to make special on the basis of age is in the records.
